SUGGESTIONS FOR AGENCY LEADERS

Before and after RITE is rolled out: Agency should maintain data on use-of-force actions, complaints, arrests, and citations given out, and as well as dash camera random monitoring and body cams.

Stats should include locations, as well as race/gender engagements with public stakeholders

Police Leaders after RITE training make a commitment to ferret out 'Rogue Officers' that display unprofessional behavior.

RITE encourages an open-door policy for police personnel to report unprofessional and unethical behavior without retribution.

RITE leaders should have a policy on proper social media posting as well as randomly review social media posting of their personnel

Police Leaders should have a series of policies and procedures, SOP on professional workplace culture, bias-based policing, harassment, use-of-force (response to resistance), and duty to intervene.

RITE provides additional material to reinforce the RITE Professional Workplace Culture, to include posters, roll-card cards and newsletter material on RITE's website.
